Disease Ravages Freezing Indians

Thousands Reported Starving

Haylift Planes Rushing Aid

(By United Press)

The Army and Air Force rushed medical aid and food supplies to thousands of starving, pneumonia-ridden Indians in Arizona and South Dakota today.

Part of the vast haylift and bulldozer operations fighting the West's big snowdrifts to reach 5,500,000 head of livestock were diverted to carry relief to the dying redmen as rapidly as possible.

Superintendent Warren Spaulding of the Cheyenne reservation in South Dakota said many of his wards were starving and the situation would become critical unless roads were opened to them within five days.

He said that Indians at the Cherry Creek and Bridger communities were burning outbuildings, corrals and fences to keep warm.

All of the nation, except the extreme tip of Florida, shivered in sub-normal temperatures. It was 27 below zero at International Falls, Minn., at midnight and 26 below at Pembina, N. D.

More and more tales of human misery unfolded as Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick's mechanized "army" of giant bulldozers, weasles and snowplows bucked through the snowdrifts of the northern plains to ranchhouses that had been isolated for weeks.

FLOOD STRIKES

A flood struck along the Quachita river in Arkansas and virtually the entire population of Calion, about 150 families, fled as water spilled over a 25-foot levee. Some refugees were housed at Eldorado, Ark., but others huddled around campfires waiting for Aed Cross aid.

An airlift was set up to carry food, medical supplies and doctors to Navajos snowbound on their vast Arizona Reservation.

Diphtheria has cropped up along with the pneumonia ravaging the distressed nation, according to Arizona health director J. P. Ward.

Pilot Charles E. Martens, 28, Tucson, flew a helicopter to a remote mountain school to carry Dr. Philip Scholtz and a nurse to the aid of 60 children who were snowbound for a week.

"When we arrived, I drank a cup of coffee," Martens said. "Before I finished the cup, the doctor had diagnosed four cases of pneumonia."

Death Loses Grim Battle With Police

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Employing oxygen, two policemen won an hour-and-a-half fight today to save the life of an 85-year-old man whose pulse beat apparently had stopped.

Saved was Ransom S. Phelps, a retired blacksmith, who fell unconscious early today.

Patrolman Raymond Vokaty, who administered three tanks of oxygen with the help of Patrolman James Hokey, said "There was absolutely no pulse beat when we examined the old man."

Phelps had regained consciousness and was breathing easily when a doctor arrived.

Chief Asks 19 More Officers

Calls For Larger City Jail In Report

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab today proposed that 19 more officers and a stenographer be added to Mansfield's police department to boost the total to 60

The recommendation was contained in the chief's annual report which was submitted to Mayor Roy W. Vaughn.

Chief Schwab recommended enlarging the city jail to include more private cells and building of two rooms in the identification bureau for interview rooms for police and attorneys.

His request for additional personnel, which was in line with other recommendations from the chief's office in recent years, calls for 10 more patrolmen, five traffic officers, four plain clothesmen, and a stenographer.

Pointing to the fact that work load was at a record high in 1948, Chief Schwab said "the statistics of the National Safety Council show that in 1946, 30 per cent of the cities of the United States in the same population as Mansfield had a total police personnel of 53. There are 40 persons on the Mansfield police force at present.

He also pointed out that the Civil War Spreads

RANGOON, Burma — (AP) — Karen rebels today attacked criminal investigation headquarters and a police station at Insein, 10 miles north of Rangoon. Several truckloads of reinforcements were rushed to Insein. Official sources said heavy fighting was taking place in the center of the town.

OLD MAN WINTER'S GREAT GUY—When he finally got here, Old Man Winter got a rousing greeting from Mansfield youngsters. Sled runners got a quick polishing, snowballs flew, fox-and-geese rings appeared, and skiers strove for balance in the heaviest snowfall of the year. Bright sunlight yesterday and today added to the pleasure of the sport. Job Check Bill Gets Once Over

Council Weighs $4,000 Survey

A plan to spend $4,000 to hire an out-of-town expert to "evaluate" city jobs was taken up by city council last night. A resolution authorizing the survey was given its first reading. Three readings are required before a vote is taken.

Councilman Harry Bowman, sponsor of the measure, said he did not attempt to have the issue approved immediately because he wanted all councilmen to get a chance to study the proposal.

He added he did not believe there was any opposition.

He said the reason he is in favor of the measure is two-fold:

1. The only way to get an unbiased survey is to get some disinterested person from out of town to examine the situation.

2. The survey will be economical for the city in the long run by increasing its efficiency. The report may suggest that certain jobs be eliminated, he said.

SURVEY IGNORED

In an interview after the meeting, Bowman answered a question concerning why a job evaluation survey made early last year by city department heads was ignored by declaring that the survey was biased.

Late in 1947, when municipal employes asked for wage increases, the outgoing council suggested that the department heads make evaluation surveys to be presented to the new council. Bowman was not a member of council at that time, however.

At the first meeting of this year, a salary bill granting raises of $10 a month to most city employes was approved by council. Certain persons were given larger increases, however.

And the failure of Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison to get an increase led to his resignation. He charged council was "prejudiced and discriminatory" in his own case and in other departments.

Bill Urges 'Stamp' Vote

Sweeping Election Changes Proposed

COLUMBUS — (AP) — You'll use a rubber stamp X to mark election ballot choices, instead of a pencil, if a new plan becomes law in Ohio.

It is one of the sweeping changes proposed by Sen. Carl D. Sheppard (R-Summit) for the state's voting system.

He said they were designed to prevent mechanical errors blamed for discarding thousands of ballots in the last election and to strength parties.

Other major provision of Sheppard's bill introduced yesterday would: substitute the Massachusetts-type ballot, listing candidates by offices, for the present party-column ballot headed by emblems.

Require pre-primary party conventions to pick candidates for each office.

Require declaration of party membership 40 days before primaries to vote in those elections or to change parties. This would not apply to general elections

Sheppard said the party membership rule was aimed against "raiding."

NLRB Straddles Fence

Declares Labor Bill Repeals Closed Shop

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The National Labor Relations board said today the administration's new labor bill would, in effect, repeal state anti-closed-shop laws, except where purely local enterprises were involved.

The board's view was submitted to the Senate Labor committee by Chairman Paul M. Herzog. He refused to take a stand for or against the provision on the state laws, three of which recently were declared constitutional by the supreme court.

The Senate committee is holding hearings on the administration bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley law and replace it with an amended Wagner Act. That bill contains a provision that no federal or state law shall prevent an employer from granting a contract requiring union membership as a condition of employment.

A total of 16 states now have laws banning the closed shop, the union shop or other "union security" provisions.

Herzog said the labor board believes that under the administration bill, any state law on this subject would "cease to be enforceable by the state itself, except where purely local enterprises are involved."

Herzog testified that the administration bill "is evidently designed to reestablish and augment federal authority in the field of union security agreements."

Citing the recent supreme court decision, he said a change in the federal law would "revive important legal issues."

He thus foresaw that the proposed federal law would be challenged as an unconstitutional invasion of state jurisdiction.

Probe Stymied

LIMA — (INS) — The three-man committee investigating the wiring of a microphone into an Allen county jury room at Lima apparently was stymied today, but planned another hearing for tomorrow.

Reds Invade South Korea

Open Civil War Threatens Republic

CHUNGDAN, Korea — (UP) — A thousand Soviet trained North Korean troops invaded the American-occupied South Korean republic today and a high South Korean official said the action might mean open civil war between the two zones.

The 1,000 invaders were supported by 2,000 reinforcements who remained north of the 38th parallel, the dividing line, in 40 or more pillboxes built under the cover of night.

Sihn Sung-Mo, minister of home affairs for South Korea, said the invasion was "definitely not a guerrila action," but might mean fullfledged war between the north and south.

The invading force moved across the border on a three-mile front. They were well trained and equipped with Russian rifles, heavy machine guns, mortars and field artillery.

First reports said they had gained 300 to 400 yards.

Would Meet Truman In USSR, Poland

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(World Copyright, 1949)

PARIS—(INS)—Premier Stalin said today his health does not allow him to travel to Washington but he invited President Truman to confer with him at any one of five cities in Russia or, "at the President's discretion," in Poland or Czechoslovakia.

Stalin made his statement in a telegram to International News Service, replying to a message sent him by this correspondent asking the Russian leader if he was prepared to go to Washington where President Truman has said he is willing to meet with him any time.

Stalin's telegram, sent to the writer in Paris, expressed the premier's gratitude to President Truman "for his invitation to come to Washington."

"For a long time," Stalin added, "it was my wish to visit Washington and at one time I mentioned this to President Roosevelt at Yalta and to President Truman at Potsdam.

"Unfortunately, at present I am unable to realize this wish of mine, since doctors strongly object to my undertaking any prolonged journey, especially by sea or air."

This new exchange of messages was the second in four days between Stalin and this correspondent. On Sunday, Stalin declared in an answer to a questionnaire that he was willing to discuss a "pact of peace" with Mr. Truman

Today's telegram by the Russian premier provided his first personal and public admission that he is not in good health. There have been recurring reports for some time that this was the case.

Having stated his doctors' objections to his undertaking any long trip, Stalin made his counter-suggestion of a meeting with the American president in his own part of the world.

CHOICE IS TRUMAN'S

He said a conference could be arranged "at the President's choice" either in Moscow, Leningrad, Kaliningrad, Odessa or Yalta—all in the U. S. S. R.—or at Mr. Truman's discretion in Poland or Czechoslovakia.

Yalta, a lavish resort in the Crimea highly favored by aristocrats in czarist days, was the scene of Stalin's last meeting with the late President Roosevelt.

Stalin did not mention any particular site in Poland or Czechoslovakia as an alternative, leaving this to President Truman's "discretion."

Stalin's telegram was delivered by the French postal and telegraph service in an envelope marked "urgent," with several official stamps bearing the same designation pasted on it.

Two copies were delivered through the central French post office. Both were in English.

The preamble to the telegram showed that the two identical messages were dispatched from Moscow at fifteen minute intervals. The first preamble read:

"SSS eleven, Moscow, 165—11--1145 etat (state) URSS government priority."

French telegraph officials explained that the letter "S" repeated three times means the highest official government priority, clearing ahead of all other traffic.

7 Primary Contests Loom In City

Locke Decides To Stay Out of Race

With the deadline for filing for the May primaries just a few hours away, seven Mansfield races have developed, three Democratic and four Republican.

Besides the Republican mayoralty fight, there will be a contest for the GOP nominations for city treasurer, Sixth ward councilman, and councilman-at-large.

On the Democratic side, primary battles have developed for the party's nomination for First and Sixth ward councilmen and for councilman-at-large.

Thomas B. Wright, now First ward councilman, will oppose Mayor Roy W. Vaughn for the Republican nomination. Mentioned as a possible candidate, former Mayor William J. Locke said he wasn't running.

Charles O. Anglin will be the Democratic candidate for mayor.

Two Democrats filed today for their party's nomination for First ward councilmen. They are J. D. Brubaker of 291 Vennum avenue, and R. Nelson Neff of 619 Harter avenue.

BEAM FILES

William B. Beam, of 1001 Park avenue west, filed today for Second ward councilman on the Republican ticket. Charles N. Shultz, veteran Republican councilman, has not filed for renomination, but he has indicated he would file.

Four Democrats have filed for the three councilmen-at-large nominations—Earle Troll, John B. Nicholson, Nelson Swihart and Michael Mihalick.

Four Republicans have filed for council-at-large—Harry Hollingsworth, George Kyle, Rev. Andrew J. Payne, and R. Y. Davis. Hollingsworth, Mihalick and Kyle now hold the offices.

Rev. Payne, 27 South Willis avenue, pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church filed his petition at noon today.

Leonard Parrella and James W. Peyton have filed for the Republican nomination for Sixth ward councilman while Rex V. Larson and Charles E. Bahl filed for treasurer on the Republican ticket.

A fight also has developed for the Democratic nomination for Sixth ward councilmen, with E. J. White and Chris Weigler filing.

Veteran Fifth Ward Councilman Fred Miller filed for renomination on the Democratic ticket, and Harry Bowman filed for Fourth ward councilman. A Democrat, Bowman, is holding that office.

Harry Colbow, a Democrat, filed for Second ward councilman.

For president of council, Paul Bush, the incumbent and a Republican, has filed as has George Connors, a Democrat.

Peter J. Mayer, filed for treasurer on the Democratic ticket.

Truman Welcome Mat Still Out

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The White House today responded "no comment" to Premier Stalin's offer to confer with President Truman in Russia, Poland or Czechoslovakia.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said, however, that the President's willingness to meet Stalin in Washington has not changed.

Norway Now In Cold War

OSLO —(UP)— Norway joined the Western powers in their cold war with Russia today by declaring officially that it wished to join the proposed North Atlantic Defense pact for "increased security."

The government of the tiny constitutional monarchy of 3,000,000 inhabitants assured Russia that no foreign power would be permitted to establish bases on Norwegian soil "as long as Norway is not attacked or subject to threats of attack."

Red Conspiracy In U. S.

Roosevelt Told Dies To Forget Communism

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series of twenty-eight articles examining the communist conspiracy in the United States. Mr. Stripling was until recently the sparkplug of the House committee that uncovered widespread communist propaganda and espionage.)

★ ★ ★

The perils of inquiring into the Red conspiracy in the United States began to show themselves immediately after the first hearings of the House un-American Activities committee.

President Roosevelt grew quite indignant over the tone of the committee's second witness. He was John P. Frey, president of the Metal Trades department of the AFL.

On August 13, 1938, he outlined to the committee the spread of communists and communism in the CIO, a story which, though attacked at the time, has long since become a well-established fact.

Several days later Chairman Dies visited the White House, along with the late Sen. Morris Sheppard of Texas, to plead for a government-financed dam in Dies' congressional district. The president had always been quite friendly to Dies.

But now the President hardly spoke to Dies, though he greeted Sheppard warmly. The men discussed the dam for a time, and then the President asked Sheppard to step aside, so that he could speak to Dies.

Roosevelt then criticized Dies sharply for "... letting this thing turn into a denunciation of the CIO." Dies protested that he had invited John L. Lewis to appear, but Lewis had refused. As Dies later related it to the committee:

"The President became very upset. He told me that no one was interested in communism; that he had heard about it all his life but had seen nothing of it; that it was not a menace. He urged me to concentrate on nazism and fascism and forget communism."

Dies was dismissed from the President's office after refusing to refrain from having the committee hear the rest of Frey's story.

From Frey's testimony the committee moved on through another nazi hearing, then began bringing in witnesses from New York and Washington to support its suspicions that there was communist domination in

Shadow-Caster Performs

Peerless Prophet Peers Out, Pops Back

That peerless, popular prognosticator of pristine philosophy pertaining to precipitation 'n' stuff took just one look.

Opening a bloodshot eye, he peered out of his hole. Half the world waited, trembling, for the verdict.

It was 7:32 a. m. (Groundhog time) in the Punxsutawney, Pa., burrow.

Then it appeared—a long shadow on the snow crest of Gobbler's Knob, just outside the Canoe Ridge Weather Works.

"Yep, thought so," yawned the prodigious prophet.

The crowd began a long shiver for the next six weeks. Mr. Groundhog ducked back into his warm den.

As the state remained in the grip of subfreezing but sunny weather today, the U. S. forecaster gave little hope for a let-up before Thursday.

Continued cold today and tonight with snow flurries near Lake Erie and increasing cloudiness for Thursday was the forecast.

Mansfield recorded one of the lowest temperatures in the state—six above zero at 7:30 a. m. Other low readings early today included eight degrees at Port Columbus and Toledo, nine at Dayton, 10 at Akron, and 15 at Cleveland.

(P. S.—The weather bureau takes a dim view of the annual groundhog proceedings. "Nothing to it," scoffs Forecaster C. George Andrus.

To back up his charge, Andrus points out that February and March had temperatures "far above normal" last year, although there was 95 per cent sunshine on Feb. 2.

However, Andrus also admits that the groundhog might have been facing in the wrong direction on the fateful day and not seen his shadow at all. The poor beast might also have myopia.)

Apparent Monopolistic Firm Has Services of State Department

THE American-Indonesian corporation, a trading company created by Matthew J. Fox, appears to be a great monopoly which violates professed principles of the United States, and yet, already, has been able to command the services of the state department.

Mr. Fox, a movie executive, is sensitive about the word Hollywood as a personal description. He thinks he is not a Hollywood type; he dresses sedately and though he is voluble he is earnest and persuasive. He is 37 years old. He is reputed to have extraordinary ability, initiative and vision.

Mr. Fox winces at the word "promotor" on the ground that it suggests to him a man who uses other people's money. He says he has put $400,000 into the American-Indonesian Corporation, largefor such homely items as board and room for a few Indonesian politicians in the United States. They may one day come to power.

Fox is banking on a hope that they will.

Mr. Fox and Eugene Garey, of New York, a Wall street lawyer but a Democrat of the Al Smith faction and tradition, who drew up the contract between Fox and the individuals claiming to have the authority of government in Indonesia, both deny that the rights granted are exclusive or monopolistic.

The imperial Dutch government claims that the Republican government is unable to control its army because some of the army leaders or warlords are communists who were trained in Russia to take over native soldiers who were trained by the Japanese during the occupation.

The office of the American-Indonesian corporation is at 40 Wall Street. There are half a dozen rooms, and Fox says he is paying the rent, telephone bills, salaries and other expenses out of $400,000 which he provided.

He has been supporting about a dozen members of the republican mission in New York and his money has been used to pay the way of the representatives at the United Nations in New York and Paris.

The corporation also has offices in Singapore and Bangkok which he has paid for thus far. It is allowed a commission of five per cent on all transactions.

Mr. Garey says Fox, individually, is registered as the representative of this foreign power but that the corporation is not. Fox refuses to disclose some of his partners, but the contract specifically says that Fox and the Indonesians were brought together by Max and Robert Delson, lawyers, of New York, and Joseph Borkin, of Washington,

Borkin was an assistant of Thurman Arnold when Arnold was chief of the anti-trust division of the department of justice. He is now practicing public relations in Washington with offices in the same building where Arnold runs his law practice. The Democratic national committee resides there, too.

2 Injured In Traffic Accidents

Boy Hurt In First Coasting Mishap

A five-car-and-a-tree tangle on Orchard street at 1 a.m. today resulted in head injuries to a Mansfield woman, while a nine-year-old Distl avenue boy became the city's first coasting accident victim of the year yesterday when he coasted his sled into an auto.

Madalene Woolds, 108½ Orchard street who received emergency treatment at General hospital for scalp lacerations, was a passenger in a car driven by Fred Hild, 44, of 384 Wayne street, police said.

Hild told officers he was driving west on Orchard street when a car sideswiped him and drove on. He said he lost control of his car, sideswiped a parked car, owned by Gordon T. McElroy, 62 Orchard street, continued about 60 feet, sideswiped a tree and hit another parked car owned by Nelson Jones, 72 Orchard street.

The Jones car, officers said, rammed into another parked car, owned by Dossie P. Porter, also of 72 Orchard street.

Damage to the cars, police said, included a smashed-front end on the Hild car, crumpled fenders for McElroy and a dented rear ends on the Jones and Porter cars.

Given emergency treatment yesterday afternoon for coasting injuries was Roger Benson of 122 Distl avenue.

The boy suffered contusions of the left leg when his sled collided with the right rear wheel of a car driven by Clifford M. Walters of 461 Springmill street.

Walters told police he was driving south on Crouse street at the intersection with Spruce street and that the boy coasted out of Spruce street into his car. The boy was treated at the hospital and released.

Corrects Pay Law Errors

City council last night corrected errors in the salary ordinance approved earlier, by reducing the raise of the sewer department bookkeeper to a flat $10 a month, in line with the general pattern. She was inadvertently granted a raise of $26.66 a month in the original measure.

The clerk in the city solicitor's office was granted a $10 a month increase.

The airport truck driver was granted a $10 a month increase. He was mistakenly left out of the first bill.

The salary of senior inspectors for improvements under construction was set at $12 a day.

The money will be used to promote a better all-around mental health program for the state.

Tells Dairymen They Must 'Sell' Butter

Dairy farmers must adopt a more positive program if they intend to compete with the makers of oleomargarine, Marshall Wells, farm editor of radio station WJR, told a meeting of Mansfield area dairy farmers yesterday.

Wells spoke to 300 members of the North Central Ohio Dairy Sales association at their annual meeting yesterday afternoon in the First Methodist church. He said legislation to allow the sale of colored oleo was imminent, and dairymen would have to adopt more forceful advertising methods to meet the challenge.

"Dairymen should sell the merits of butter to the public rather than confine themselves to fighting the makers of butter substitutes," he said.

Wells made his stand clear in the current oleo-butter issue. He said he thought butter was the better of the two products and worth the price difference.

He rapped farmers who use oleo, adding they are "cutting off their noses to spite their faces."

He said he thought the oleo tax was unjust despite his position, but contended that too much discussion of the tax had put ammunition into the hands of proponents of unrestricted sale of colored oleo.

BRIGHTER PACKAGES

The speaker pointed up the sales angles dairymen had failed to use. In a demonstration with packages of margarine and butter, he showed how much farther advanced the oleo interests were in introducing attractive packaging and lauding the advantages of their product.

The same was true of advertising technique of dairy farmers, he said., citing figures to show that oleo interests had spent more than 15 times as much on national advertising as had the dairy interests.

The speaker demonstrated comparative values of milk, soft drinks, and beer. In a demonstration he showed that a nationally known soft drink cost 25 cents a quart compared with 20 cents for milk, while beer costs approximately 50 cents. He said undue emphasis was placed on the price of milk.

Wells urged dairymen to fight off the temptation to lean too heavily on government price support. "If the proposed 90 per cent parity support ever goes through, nationalization of farms will surely follow," he predicted. He urged more independent thinking by farmers.

Earlier in the day the association elected two new directors, Ralph Hulit, of Weller township, and George Jackson, of Morrow county. They replaced A. L. Lockhart, of Mansfield, and R. H. Phillips, of Mt. Vernon.

Following the main address Earl Polling, of Marysville, a representative of the American Dairy association, told the meeting of the publicity campaign in behalf of the dairy farmer and urged support.

Zoning Bill Proposed

Council President Names Committee

A zoning ordinance for the city of Mansfield moved a step closer to realization last night when Council President Paul Bush appointed three councilmen to draw up such a bill.

Appointed were George Kyle, who requested that the committee be formed, Thomas B. Wright and Michael Mahalick.

The last time a zoning ordinance got to the council floor was about 20 years ago, when it finally died because of protests from persons who felt they were being unnecessarily hurt by the measure.

Proposals for an ordinance which would restrict the types of building construction permitted in residential areas have been discussed a number of times in council in recent years, but no definite action has come out of any of them.

In other actions, council approved three claims totaling $46.97.

Richard S. Barr, 34 Western avenue, was granted $12.05 for damages to his automobile in a collision with a city fire truck at Harker and Bowman streets, Nov. 25, 1948.

F.W. Buffer, 232 Orange street, was awarded a $19.04 claim and Mrs. A. Barnsteiner, 492 Chevy Chase road, was granted $15.88. In both cases, the awards were made for damages to automobiles on city streets.

Soil Supervisors To Meet Friday

Richland county Soil Conservation supervisors will meet Friday at 1 p. m., in the extension office at the courthouse, County Agent C. N. McGrew announced.

Opens Way For Street Program

Council Asks Cost Figures, Plans

The 1949 street improvement program was given the go-ahead signal last night by city council in a resolution requesting the city engineer to draw plans and estimates for paving, resurfacing or grading 14 streets.

Three other streets are being carried over from last year when plans were drawn, but contracts were not let.

Included in the program that totals 17 units is a proposal to resurface Park avenue west from Main street to Park drive and to widen it from Mulberry street to Bowman street.

Other streets carried over from last year's program which are scheduled for improvement are Chilton avenue, from Main street to School road, and Bentley street, from First street to Park avenue east.

Also scheduled for paving in 1949 are Shady Lane, from Park avenue west south to the end of the street; Glenwood heights, from Mendota street to end of the present pavement; Brickman avenue, from Park avenue west to North Linden road; Crouse street, from First street to Glessner avenue and Sloane avenue, from Poplar street to Bartley avenue.

On the resurfacing list are Taylor road from Arlington ave. to Millsboro road; South Adams street, from First street to Diamond street; West Sixth street, from Sycamore street to Mulberry street; State street, from Main street to the end of the present improvement, and on Bowman street, from Fifth to Springmill street.

Four streets are scheduled for grading and a slag covering. They are Highland avenue, from Euclid to Fairlawn avenues; Platt street, from Wayne street 275 feet east; Harrison street; from Central to Fifth avenues, and the first alley south of and parellel with South Diamond street, from Beethoven to Rembrandt street.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE—

Greenwich Rotarians were told last night by Rotarian J. H. B. Young, of Canterbury, England, that they may live in a town called "Gren-itch," but he had certainly never heard of a town named "Green-witch," as they called it. This and other differences in English pronunciations were noted by the 250 Rotarians attending the Rotary inter-city meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, when the broad "A's" and other British speaking mannerisms became evident in Young's address.

OVERSIGHT—

Motorists have been going into the police station the past few days to complain about parking tickets issued them for leaving their cars at meters where "no parking" signs have been put up. The signs are put on the meters to clear the street for snow removal crews. This morning a man walked in with one of those familiar yellow tickets and explained sadly to the traffic clerk that the sign was put up after he parked his car at the meter. The traffic patrolman who issued the ticket said, "Sure the sign was put up after the car was parked, but you failed to deposit a coin in the slot before leaving." So the $1 fine still holds.

2 New Postal Trucks Finally Reach City

Several weeks of patient waiting on the part of Mansfield post office officials partially paid-off today when two new trucks were delivered, with two more due within the next few days.

The trucks were scheduled for delivery the middle of last month to replace some of the antiquated vehicles now being used by ed post office here for delivery of mail, but did not arrive until today.

The new trucks will replace vehicles which are from 17 to 20 years old, C. L. Ford, acting postmaster, said today.

Would Change System

City Seen Gaining Funds

A special meeting of city council has been called for Feb. 9 to hear the first reading of the voluminous traffic recodification ordinance.

The major item of the bill will include the establishment of a one-way traffic system in Mansfield and the restriction of parking on one, or both sides of several main thoroughfares in the city.

The one-way system would not go into effect immediately, but at the discretion of Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Beals, Michael Mihalick, chairman of the traffic committee said.

Some kinks in the plan must still be worked out and the East Fifth street extension must be obtained from the Mansfield Telephone company. The company has refused to grant the city a right of way to extend East Fifth street from Snyder street to Ashland road. Condemnation proceedings against the company will be filed soon.

Major streets scheduled to be made one-way are First, Second, Fourth, Fifth, Main and Diamond.

Mihalick also pointed out that the bill will increase city income. All state traffic law violations are being incorporated in the new city ordinance. Therefore, police officers will be able to file charges under the city law instead of state law.

The net result will be that the money collected in fines will go to the city rather than to the county as it does at present.

Mihalick said the meeting was open to the public, and that anyone desiring to attend was welcome. He said council would be open to questions and suggestion.

Methodist Men Elect

W. C. Peterson, 611 Scholl road, last night was elected president of the newly-organized "Men of the First Methodist church" club when the initial luncheon meeting was held in the church parlors.

Others who will serve with Peterson are: Robert O. Richards, vice president; Kenneth Erb, secretary; Vernon Ford, treasurer; and Harold Mansfield, Harold Gorsuch and W. R. Burkhart, executive officers.

Objectives of the organization as outlined last night are: to promote the principles of Christian Brotherhood and to further, help and assist in the interests and activities of the First Methodist church.

It was decided to have three meetings each year, probably fall, winter and spring. There will be no summer meetings, unless specially planned.

Bridge Painting Jobs Approved

Three state and federal highway bridges in municipalities in the county soon will be given new coats of paint.

Richland county commissioners passed a resolution to pay $450 of the cost of the painting.

The work will be done on a contract basis, with the state letting the contracts.

The bridges to be painted are a state bridge on State Route 13 over the Clear Fork creek in Bellville, another on U. S. Route 42 over the Clear Fork creek in Lexington; and a third on North Main street over the Rocky Fork creek in Mansfield.

Briton Says Industry, Labor Owe Allegiance to Community

J. H. B. Young, Rotarian from Canterbury, Kent, England, last night charged industrial management and labor alike with having lost their sense of responsibility to the community. He spoke before 250 Rotarians attending an inter-city meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

"Industry must realize it is not in business for menetary gain only nor solely for its personal benefit, but must render a service to its community as well," he stated.

He cited the case of the worker and craftsman before the Industrial Revolution, who took an active interest and pride in his work and his finished product. This man knew he was contributing something useful and rendering a service to his community.

"Now the only incentive left to the worker", claimed the Canterbury Rotarian," is that of selling his services for pecuniary gain. Labor should be welded back into the community!"

Young pointed out that today we live in a world of specialists, but it isn't specialists we need. He said, "We need people who can look at things with an over-all point of view, men who will examine and interpret facts and not be biased by their environment or education."

After Young's address he answered questions on contemporary life in England. He said that since the election three years ago, which was predominately 'labor', "many people have changed their minds".

He mentioned the fact that under the new Socialized Medicine program, dentists are making "fabulous fortunes", due to the fact Englishmen have neglected their teeth for so long. Now everyone can have his dental work done by the government, the dentists are swamped with work that should have been done years ago.

Burton I. Ohlemacher, governor of the 157th Rotary district, arranged for Young's appearance in Mansfield and was present last night at the Mansfield inter-city meeting.

A. M. Colby, a past president of the Mansfield Rotary, was toastmaster for the evening, and Harry Hollingsworth was chairman of the welcoming committee. Music was furnished throughout the dinner by Smart's Accordionettes.

Shelby Whippets Squeeze By Madison, 43-42

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

THAT YOUNGSTERS fighting in amateur ring tourneys are loaded with the elusive quality called "guts" was clearly demonstrated again last night. . . . All of the lads fighting on the Friendly House show were giving their all but the performances of a pair of them stand out in our mind. . . . In the fifth fight on the show, Cecil Wright piled up a big margin on Roland Scott of Ashland. . . . He used his left hand almost all the way and we wondered what Wright was keeping his right for. . . . At the end of the round he complained of pains in the shoulder. . . . The fight was awarded to Scott on a TKO when examination proved that the shoulder was dislocated . . . The injury happened the first time Wright threw a right—yet he gave no indication and was way ahead when the fight was called. . . . Then in the ninth go, Joe Neidig suffered a broken bone in his right forearm in the second round. . . . Thirty seconds later he kayoed Carol Combs with a left hook. (It was the only clean kayo in 13 bouts) . . . The Stuffer was one of the few ringsiders who saw the latter injury. . . . Neidig glanced just once at the arm after the injury but did not say a thing until he reached his corner.

★

POSSIBLY the outstanding "boxing bout" of the card was put on by a couple of Marion lads—Ray Penny and Jack Seckinger. . . . Penny is a former Texas Golden Gloves champion while Seckinger is a veteran of many fights here and at Marion. . . . Both boys exhibited plenty of class but to us it looked like a sparring match between buddies. . . . Once after landing a right, Penny looked at Seckinger as if to say, "Sorry if I hit you too hard pal."

★

CROWD at last night's show was the biggest to attend a Friendly House fight card in three years. . . . All seats were sold out before the first bout. . . . Response has been so good in the three nights of F-H boxing this season that at least one more card is in the offing. . . . Officials announced last night that an attempt will be made to bring several Cleveland Golden Gloves champions here in three weeks.

★

AN INTERESTING sidelight of last night's fight occurred near the end of the show. . . . Officials disqualified Defending Champion Howard Carney after a knockdown in the first round . . . Carney slipped to the canvas but rose immediately. . . . He was signalled to stay down to get the full benefit of the count. . . . So he went back to the canvas for the rest and was "out" for going down without being hit . . . Right after the F-H show, Howard Straub was watching Golden Gloves in Chicago by television. . . . The same thing occurred there when a youngster slipped and fell. . . . The referee made him stay down for eight counts. . . . It seems the Chicago boxing commission has a rule that all fighters, pro or amateurs, that go to the canvas must take an eight count. . . . This whether they slip or are hit. . . . Would be a good rule to have here as too many fighters jump up without a count when a rest would lessen the chance of injury.

Late Field Goal Makes Win Margin

By JOHN PATRICK

SHELBY — The Shelby Whippets squeezed past a fighting Mansfield Madison team last night on the Shelby high floor by the slim margin of one point, 43 to 42.

With approximately 15 seconds left to play, Dick Utz hooked the ball into the basket on a pivot shot that brought victory to Shelby. The last 15 seconds were a mad scramble with Shelby successfully stalling the ball to avenge an earlier defeat by Madison in their first game of the season.

RAMS GO AHEAD

The Madison fans had plenty of opportunity to let off steam, too. With Shelby leading 41 to 38 at the official time out Ray "Dutch" Bader sank a beautiful shot from the left side of the court to make it 41 to 40. Before the fans had time to sit down Jim Brightbill intercepted a Shelby pass and whipped the ball to Ed Chelski, who took it down the center of the floor and let fly one of his accurate one-handers from just outside the foul circle to put Madison out in front.

Then came the play that finished the scoring. Laurence Paine passed to Clark in the left hand corner. Clark then tossed to Utz in the keyhole, who seemed to turn from out of a swarm of Madison players to sink the final and deciding basket of the game.

TIED 15 TIMES

The game was close throughout with the score tied up 15 times. The Whippets managed to get six points ahead in the second quarter. However, during most of the game there was just one or two points difference in the scoring.

The teams were tied at 12 apiece at the end of the first quarter but Shelby forged ahead at the half, 25 to 23. Madison tied it up, 35-35, as the final quarter opened.

The play of Distl, Bader, Utz and Cronenwett under the basket and the shooting of Chelski and Onie highlighted the ball game.

Chelski's accurate shooting accounted for 17 points to give him scoring honors for the evening, while Utz was high for the Whippets with 15.

BETTER FROM FIELD

The Rams of Coach Blaine Dowler outscored Shelby from the court, 18 to 17, but the Whippets made nine of 15 free throws and Madison scored on six of 10. Madison has now won seven and lost six.

A humorous incident occurred in the early moments of the game when play had to be stopped after each team had scored a basket. The reason—spectators had to notify the officials that the clock was not running. However, after a few blasts from the horn and some vigorous taps on the clock by the timekeeper the clock decided to continue the game.

In the preliminary game, the Shelby Reserves defeated the Madison Reserves, 27 to 24.

Eighth City Requests Spot In All-America Conference

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

CHICAGO—(INS)—The All-America Football conference will expand once again to eight teams in 1950 if its new piece of reincarnation, the team called the Chicago Hornets, proves even mildly successful in '49.

In the midst of all the gayety in Chicago yesterday when a figurative stake was driven through the Chicago Rockets' heart, it was learned that a group of businessmen from a city not yet introduced to professional football — presumably Dallas — already has requested a franchise in the AAC.

What is more, the request was said to have been made during the recent "survival meeting" of the AAC in Chicago, at which time the All-America, far from considering petitions for new membership, was popularly supposed to be readying its own collapse.

NEW FRANCHISE

Although the Chicago Hornets actually are a new franchise, the important spadework — a nucleus of Chicago players and a place to play—were already there. About 30 members of the defunct Rockets have been held over on the Hornet roster. To this have been added 27 names from the Brooklyn roster as an outgrowth of the Dodgers' merger with New York.

James C. Thompson, prominent Chicago businessman, was revealed as the head of the new syndicate which has taken over the Hornets.

Among those obtained from the 1948 Brooklyn entry, after it merged with the New York Yankees, were:

All - American Halfback Bob Chappuis, of Michigan; End Henry Foldberg, of Army; Back Bob Hoernschemeyer, of Indiana; Back Bob Sweiger, of Minnesota; and Center George Strohmeyer, of Notre Dame.

Galion Tigers Notch Second In Loop Play

GALION — The Galion high school Tigers won their second Northern Ohio league game of the season last night by defeating the Crestline Bulldogs, 54 to 50, on the Junior High basketball court here.

In an earlier non-league game this season the Crestline five won 49 to 45 over the Tigers.

Ray Seif was high-point man again for Galion with 19 points made by nine field goals and one free throw. John Johnson, six-foot center, led the visitors with 17 points.

In the preliminary game, the Galion Junior Varsity won from Crestline Jayvees, 32 to 20. This was the third Galion victory of the day, the 7th and 8th grade team having won over Shelby in the afternoon, 25 to 20.

Butler Loses Close Contest To Centerburg

BUTLER — Butler high school ventured outside the Richland county basketball league last night and absorbed a 47-to-46 defeat at the hands of Centerburg.

The visitors led at the quarter, 17 to 16, but Butler went ahead at halftime, 26 to 24. Butler built up a seven-point lead with three minutes to go. However, the Bulldogs faded rapidly.

Bishop paced the winners with 20 points while Bill Allen and Dick Titlow each had 17 for Butler. The Centerburg reserves won, 34 to 29.

Louis Moves Ray to Sixth

JACKSONVILLE, Fal., — (AP) — Joe Louis took his second look at Elmer (Violent) Ray as an exhibition opponent and today the heavyweight champion put Ray down as sixth in his list of ligical contenders.

Louis figured Ezzard Charles, who's been battling as a light heavy, is the top-ranking challenger. He put Lee Savold in second place.

Savold was number two and Jersey Joe Walcott number three, the champ said, only because he has not met Savold and has already beat Walcott twice.

Joe Baksi came next in Louis' ratings and then Gus Lesnevich, also ahead of Ray. Louis didn't make any ratings beyond sixth.

Cleveland Browns Get Flanker From Buffalo

CLEVELAND — (INS) — End William "Zeke" O'Connor became the newest member today of the Cleveland Browns, champions of the All-America football conference.

O'Connor came to the Browns in exchange for Bob McClelland, a tackle, who went to the Buffalo Bills.

Corner Store Battles A's

Au Construction, rated by many as the National league team having the best chance to beat Frankie Mitsch's, will get its crack at the 'B' loop leaders at 9 o'clock tonight.

Mitsch's has won two in a row in the second half season after going undefeated in the first half. Fast-improving Au's has won two of three second half games.

Should Au's pull the upset tonight, the lead would automatically go to Home Materials which has a bye. Home Materials has won its only three second half games.

Other contests on tap for tonight send Four Square Gospel against the Salesmen at 7 p. m. and AVC against the Independents at 8.

Seven Pin Leagues Produce Two 600's

Only two Mansfield bowlers managed to crack the honor roll last night as 90 quintets competed in seven leagues at the Colony and Richland Recreation alleys.

Rolling in the Elks league, Don Dancer was high with a 223-190-193—606 while Adam Karbula compiled 222-221-162—605 for Commercial Motor Freight in the Transportation league. Stahl came close in the Elks loop with a 160-198-233—591.

Other Elks league scores: Emmett McIntire, 180-200-203—583; Art Hilborn, 563; Harold Selby, 562; Adam Mayer, 557; L. Bechtel, 554, and C. Rupp, 540. Mayer's single game of 278 was possibly the outstanding individual effort of the evening.

But he sandwiched the high game between a 124 and a 155. Bechtel had a 232.

County Court Team Forfeits

BYESVILLE—(AP)—Two Guernsey County basketball teams played almost three periods last night before the game came to an abrupt end—with the score 2 to 0 in favor of Byesville.

Byesville was given the game on a forfeit when Coach William Jirles of Pleasant City called his team off the floor and sent it to the showers with three minutes left to play in the third period.

Up to that time Byesville was leading 30 to 28—and the referee had just called a foul on a Pleasant City player.

Jirles declined to comment on his action.

Ohio Golf Tourneys Are Planned

By FRITZ HOWELL
(AP Sports Writer)

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Spring must be just around the corner—Ohio's golf associations are setting up their 1949 tournaments.

Latest to go into the program is the Ohio publinks classic, scheduled June 23-26 at the Breathnach Country club in Akron.

Columbus Mayor Jimmy Rhodes, president of the pay-as-you-go association and national AAU boxer, announced today the fee course stars would stage a pro-amateur event this year for the first time as a curtain-raiser for the championship.

Val Chiaverini the Toledo hot-shot who has copped the public links crown the last three times—twice at medal play and once at match play—will be trying for his fourth in a row at Breathnach.

Rhodes said the tourney would be at match play again this year, with Chiaverini and the 15 low scorers in a 36-hole qualifying round battling it out for the laurels.

The pro-amateur will be held Thursday, June 23, the 36-hole medal play qualifier Friday, and the match play Saturday and Sunday. The field will be limited to 80 players, with the Steubenville district sending six entrants. Youngstown six, Cleveland 16, Akron 16, Toledo 12, Davton 12 and Columbus 10. Bill Bebout of Akron will be tournament manager.

The Ohio Golf association's state amateur is booked at Mansfield's Westbrook club July 11-16, but the group's senior and junior events are still up in the air.

The senior classic originally was booked June 9-10 at the Columbus Scioto course, but will be shifted because of a conflict with the national open at Chicago.

The one-day junior event, usually held in August, may be played in Findlay this year, but arrangements are incomplete.

Harold Paddock of Aurora is defending champion in the state amateur, Anthony Vitt of Brecksville won the 1948 senior tourney, and Robert Roll of Greenville is the junior king.

The national caddy championship, an annual fixture in Columbus, is scheduled Aug 22-26 at the Ohio State university 36-hole layout.

Dates have not been determined for the Inverness invitational four-ball matches, the women's state championship and the Ohio open.

12 Champs Crowned In Amateur Boxing Meet

Esbenshade Picked Outstanding Fighter

Twelve champions, only two of them holdovers from 1948, emerged from last night's spirited amateur boxing tournament at the Colby and Earick showrooms.

The AAU tournament, sponsored by the Friendly House and 40 et 8 club, attracted some 50 young fighters for the two-night show and last night "pulled" a SRO crowd. Seventeen bouts were staged Monday and 13 last night.

Joe Neidig, the "best fighter of 1948," and Don Esbenshade, F-H middleweight, were the only champions to survive. Neidig, Bhyajlie lightweight, had to do it the hard way as he knocked out Carol Combs, Marion, in 1:32 of the second round with a looping left. Neidig had suffered a broken arm earlier in the round.

BEST BATTLE

Esbenshade, who also doubles as Senior high champion, had to put up the best fight of his career to defeat Galion's rugged Charles Farina for the third time Their bout easily lived up to the main-go billing and Esbenshade did not get his winning margin until late in the fourth quarter when he cut loose with a "one-two" which staggered Farina.

Neither lad could do much in the first round but each scored telling blows in the second. Farina landed repeatedly with a left jab while Esbenshade's best punch was a right cross to the "kisser."

For his work, Esbenshade was awarded the 1949 Johnny Villella "best fighter" trophy. He was picked in close balloting with Ray Penny, Marion. On the selection panel were Coonie Miller, Paul Eliot, Sam Morgan, Bill Edwards and Fred Tharp.

Tom Weaver, the Senior high football tackle, surrendered his heavyweight title to Red Mathias, Galion. Weaver was unable to fight because of sickness. Howard Carney, featherweight champion, was disqualified in the first round of his bout with Dick James, Marion, when he went down without being hit.

Al Treisch, the other '48 champ from Galion, dropped a split decision to Bruce Heinberger, Friendly House. They fought in the open flyweight division.

Penney, former Texas Golden Gloves champ, copped the other open division championship.

Four of the championships went to the Friendly House, Ashland took three while Marion and Galion had two each.

Neidig scored the only knockout on the final card, although three of the bouts were TKO's.

FUQUA WINS PAIR

Two of the technical kayoes were the work of hard-hitting Lofton Fuqua of the Friendly House. He battered Dick Bates, Galion welter, with a vicious two-handed attack before Referee Paul Carbetta stopped the fight. Then in the finals, Fuqua knocked Lou Hackworth to the canvas twice in the first round and the Galion fighter was unable to answer the bell for the second.

The Cooney Miller-Tony Daley award for the quickest kayo went to Novice Cecil Wright of the Friendly House. He put Sam Stevens, Galion, away in 30 seconds of the first round Monday. Last night, Wright suffered a shoulder dislocation in the first round of a bout with Roland Scott, Ashland, and was unable to continue.

Boston Grid Team Changes To Bulldogs

NEW YORK — (INS) — Ted Collins was still without a new coach today for his transplanted "Boston Yankees," of the National Football league, who will operate at the polo grounds next season with New York's football Giants.

The radio man, however, had a new name for his nomads—the New York Bulldogs.

Meantime the appointment of a 1949 head coach, to succeed Maurice "Clipper" Smith, hung fire in spite of a scheduled meeting, in which Collins and Sid Luckman were to have discussed terms last week end.

The star quarterback was given permission last week to enter the Collins negotiations by his Chicago employer, George Halas, but results thus far have been without tangible evidence.

The Clipper was announced as having signed a long-term contract at Lafayette college, Easton, Pa.

Charles Named In Akron Suit

AKRON — (AP) — Sammy Baroudi, 20-year-old Akron boxer died in a Chicago hospital last February after a bout with heavyweight contender Ezzard Charles because of "wrongful acts" by Charles, a petition filed in Common Pleas Court said today.

Charles was named defendant in a $15,000 suit filed by Alexander Russell, attorney for the late boxer and also administrator of his estate.

The petition quoted rules of the Illinois Athletic commission and then asserted that Charles took "unfair advantage" of the 20-year-old Baroudi "in the following respects:

"By repeatedly hitting below the belt, by holding decedent with one hand while hitting with the other, by deliberately striking decedent with innumerable rabbit punches and committing other and various acts.

DECISION FOR SAVOLD—Lee Savold, U. S. heavyweight, comes out on top after taking fence on hunter, while following hounds at the South Downs Hunt club, Lewes, Sussex, England. Bedecked in hunting pink and high hat and with his manager, Bill Daley, around to see that he wasn't over-matched, Savold took the decision from Hoss. Savold recently lost decision to Bruce Woodcock on a foul and is now giving exhibitions in England.

Brooklyn Club Good Bet To Win National Pennant

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers should win the National league pennant this year.

We don't say they will; merely that they should.

They have what it takes. Big husky lads. Lots of them. Young, eager and fast.

They have more reserves than any other team in the league. Branch Rickey has some 700 ball players in his far-flung Dodger chain, and any club would be glad of a chance to take several of them off his hands.

Several of the Dodger minor league clubs won pennants last year, and it is axiomatis that good major leaguers come from pennant-winning minors.

DEAL OR TWO?

The Dodgers may make a deal or two before the season starts but if not they are well set as they stand.

Roy Campanella and Bruce Edwards give them plenty of class behind the plate.

Gil Hodges, the reformed catcher, did well at first last year and figures to improve. Peewee Reese and Jackie Robinson give the club a great pair at second base.

Third base is still a question mark but Rickey has at least 10 candidates for the job, including John Jorgensen, Bill Cox and Tom Brown. Any one of these might click here.

If not, Bob Morton who was the all-star shortstop of the International league last year may be shifted to third.

That's the kind of rookies the Dodgers have. Rickey has so many outfielders he doesn't know what to do with half of them. He could go with Gene Hermanski, Mary Rackley, Carl Furillo and Ed Snider and do all right, but he has several young stars who may stick. One of them is Cal Abrams, a lad who in his two seasons with Mobile hit .355 and .337.

FINE HILL STAFF

The Dodgers' greatest strength is on the mound with a staff headed by Ralph Branca, Rex Barney and Joe Hatten. Barney is probably the fastest thrower in the league and Ralph Kiner, the Pirates' home-run king, claims he is faster than Bob Feller.

Rickey has four or five young pitchers coming up who are expected to stick. Among them are Pat McGlothin who pitched a no-hitter for St. Paul last year, and Morris Martin, a left-hander with a good curve.

Montreal is sending up Clarence Podbielan, a tall big lad with a real high hard one, and Fort Worth is sending Bob Austin, who won 17 and lost seven while fanning 121 last year.

In a word, the Dodgers have so much fine material that Manager Burt Shotton is going to have a difficult time deciding which men to keep.

3—In Memoriam

IN MEMORY of Mrs. Inez Diskosky, who passed away 5 years today.

SENT TO HEAVEN
I had a message to send her
To her whom my soul loves best.
But I had my task to finish
And she had gone to rest.
To rest in far bright Heaven;
Oh, so far away from here!
It was vain to speak to my darling
For I know she could not hear.

I had a message to send her
So tender and true and sweet.
I long for an angel to bear it
And lay it down at her feet.
I placed it one summer evening
On a little white cloud's breast.
But it faded in golden splendor
And died in crimson west.

I care it the lark next morning
And I watched it soar and soar.
But its pinions grew faint and weary
And it fluttered to earth once more.
I cried in my passionate longing:
"Has the earth no angel friend.
Who will carry my love the message
My heart desires to send?"

—H. F. DISKOSKY.

Such men must be honest and able to handle company money honestly. Also men we employ must be able to furnish three character references and own a car. "Did He See" His Shadow?

You hear a lot about the little GROUND HOG seeing his shadow. Do you know that he is the worst treated little animal we have? He furnishes a home for most every animal that lives on the ground. Yes, he digs a hole for the Rabbit, Skunk, Opossum, Weasel, Fox and many others. He is strictly vegetarian. He never harms any other animal, yet men think it's sport to kill him when he comes out in the spring sunshine to get a breath of fresh air after he has slept all winter and dreamed of the wonderful spring sunshine. Well, we have a home for you that no one can take away from you, and these two new BUNGALOWS are two and three bedrooms located on the West Side. We can sell these homes on a Land Contract with only $1500 and $2500 down payment. Then when you have the principal reduced so that you may secure a first mortgage loan you can have your deed. This will save you paying rent and enable you to become independent and pay for your home while you are paying rent. See us today for information on these properties.

Ohio Pastors Back Civil Rights Plan

Resolution Hits Discrimination

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio pastors today approved a five-point civil rights resolution calling for an end to racial and religious segregation.

The civil rights proposal was one of six resolutions adopted by the more than 2,000 ministers of 20 denominations, attending a four-day 30th annual Ohio Pastors' convention in Columbus.

The convention is sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches.

The civil rights resolution called for:

(1) The elimination of segregation, based on race, color, creed or national origin.

(2) The denial of all federal grants-in-aid where discrimination is practiced.

(3) The enactment by congress of legislation prohibiting discrimination and segregation in the District of Columbia and providing for fair education and health practices.

(4) Favoring the enactment of a fair employment practices law in Ohio and in the nation.

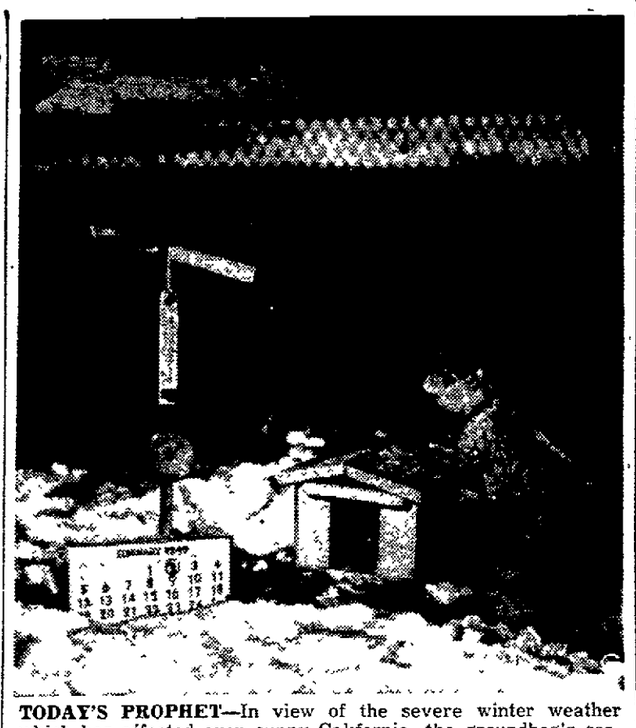
(5) Urging Ohio churches to widen the educational program in their churches so that christian attitudes in race relations might increasingly be achieved.

The convention also approved the following:

The need of christian gospel to transform conduct of people in all activities.

Endorsement of a proposal for federal appropriations to schools providing the funds be used in such a manner as to eliminate discriminations against minority groups and prohibit federal control of educational policy; and endorsement of "cost of living" adjustment for Ohio teachers of $225 a year per teacher for the next two years.

Recommend liquor licensing power be placed solely with the state liquor administrator and appeals be referred to the county courts; prohibit liquor licenses to be issued to establishments within 500 feet of a school, church, library or public playground; legislation to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor outside a municipality.



TODAY'S PROPHET—In view of the severe winter weather which has affected even sunny California, the groundhog's seasonal shadow prediction is now getting special attention. No wonder then that this tame prognosticator considers everything from the weather vane to the thermometer as he makes his fateful appearance today.

City's Scout Troops Name Candidates For 'Congress'

Campaigning in the Boy Scout election reached a new high today with the announcement of the Scouts who were nominated in the primary held last week.

Scouts are electing one or more representatives from each troop to serve on a Mansfield Scout congress to convene during the coming National Boy Scout week Feb. 6 through 12. All troops will elect two Mansfield Scouts to serve as president and vice-president of the congress.

In the primary, James Geiger, of Troop 18, and Charles Young, of Post 6, won over Charles Brown, of Post 2, for the nominations as president of the congress. Frank Plaut, of Troop 18, and Raymond Stretch, of Post 2, edged Gary Haley, of Post 6, for the nominations for the vice presidency.

The election of the president vice president and individual delegates from each troop will be held at each troop's meeting during this week.

Hangs Out Welcome Sign

Western Germany Seeks Tourist Cash

FRANKFURT — (AP) — Western Germany is hanging out the welcome sign to foreign tourists for the first time since the war.

Allied and German officials are planning on an influx of tourists this spring to Bavaria, the Black Forest and the Rhineland. They expect the program to get really rolling in 1950 when the Wagner music festivals at Bayreuth and the Passion Play at Oberammergau will be resumed.

The stumbling block to tourism since the war has been chiefly a lack of hotel space and transportation.

German officials, in cooperation with the Joint Export Import agency (JEIA), consisting of allied representatives of the American, British and French zones have opened 82 hotels for tourists in Trizonia—with more to be opened constantly. All are well stocked with a variety of food. All have organized fleets of taxicabs.

Tourists to Germany will be required to pay in dollars at the legal rate of exchange for marks.

This is because allied officials want Germany to build up a hard cash fund to pay for imports. This is intended to take some of the burden off British and American taxpayers.

The procedure for the prospective traveler is this:

He makes application at a travel agency for German hotel reservations. He pays simultaneously for his hotel rooms and meals.

The travel agency makes the reservations by cable. JEIA officials say this process should not take more than a day or two.

Once he possesses his reservation, the tourist goes to his nearest state department branch and applies for a passport and military entry permit.

From there on, he makes sea or air travel arrangements the same as if he were going to France, Switzerland or Italy.

One difference he will find in Germany is that he will be expected to sleep and eat only at the hotels affiliated with JEIA. Usually, however, these are the best available.

BUC Chief Defends Jobless Pay for 'Vacationing' Ohioans

Not Unusual Or Alarming To Collopy

Claims Declared To Be Eligible

COLUMBUS — (AP) — There's nothing "unusual or alarming" in Ohioans drawing unemployment pay while wintering in Florida and California, Frank J. Collopy, administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, said yesterday.

Collopy took issue with Gov. Frank J. Lausche who yesterday said Collopy "ought to find out how many are vacationing in the sunshine."

The governor said in 1947 and 1948 payments totaling $200,000 were paid to 2,500 unemployed Ohioans in the two vacation states, most of it, $147,000, going to Ohioans in Florida, he added.

In a statement to newsmen, Administrator Collopy said:

"The number of benefit claims filed under the Ohio law in California and Florida is neither unusual nor alarming when compared to past experience."

"Furthermore," he said, "such claims are generally filed by persons eligible to do so under the Ohio law and in keeping with the reciprocal agreements authorized by that law. At present, Ohio has such agreements with the other 47 states and with Alaska.

"The figures for December, 1948—the most recent available—show that 319 claims were filed under the Ohio law in California, 161 in Florida. In December, 1947, these figures were 318 and 127 respectively. The increase between December, 1947, and December, 1948, was 35 for both states. The number of claims filed under the Ohio law in these states during July, 1948, was California 210, Florida 66. Thus 167 more claims were filed in these states in December than in July.

"Of the total of 33,119 claims filed under the Ohio law in December, 1948, 480 or 1.4 per cent were filed in California and Florida. Of the 20,522 claims filed in December, 1947, 445 or 2.2 per cent were filed in California and Florida."

Gov. Lausche said at a news conference Ohio unemployment benefits were designed to protect the honest worker who finds himself unemployed and not "unemployed" vacationers. He described as "of a suspicious character" payments made to Ohioans in the sunshine states.

Collopy said his bureau was on the alert against any fraud.

"The bureau's fraud unit," he declared, "in operation for almost 10 years and one of the first to be established in the unemployment security field, is on constant lookout for fraudulent benefit payments."

Charges Dismissed

Charges of failing to keep up support payments for his six children brought against Arthur W. O'Neil, 43, of Walker avenue, were dismissed yesterday in junvenile court. He had been charged with violation of probation in that he had allegedly failed to keep up support payments.

Oak Ridge Soon To Be 'Open' City

Comes of Age On March 19

OAK RIDGE, TENN. —(UP) — The 40,000 residents of this "atomic city" will have to begin locking their doors about March 19.

This city of mystery that sprang up overnight six years ago to build the world's most destructive weapon—the atom bomb—is growing up.

About 46 days from today, it will come of age. Around March 19, the government will unlock the gates of the city and invite the outside world to come and go as it pleases—except in some still restricted areas.

Oak Ridge has been a hard place for a thief or anyone else, for that matter, to get into since those days when bulldozers swept over the isolated area 30 miles from Knoxville, pushed over trees, levelled hills, and cleared the way for the rapid construction of acres of buildings.

For months the city's population, then 70,000, were in the dark as to what was going on. They knew they were working on something important. The only thing they knew for sure was that it was "tough" to get in or out.

Today, the regulations are not so strict—although you must have a pass to go beyond the outside entrances. You must have other passes to visit certain buildings, and even stricter passes to visit areas still classified as top secret.

Beginning about March 19 there will be no gates—no outside guards—no passes needed to visit friends or do business in Oak Ridge.

The ground will continue to be government property, but gradually all activities will be turned over to the Oak Ridge government.

Until recently, firms doing business in Oak Ridge have operated on a year-to-year basis under contract with the AEC's management contractor for the city. With the new birth of Oak Ridge, long-term leases will be signed.

Eventually, the city hopes to have its incorporation papers. This may not come for a year or so—because when Oak Ridge pulls away completely from the skirts of the government, it is bound to pick up numerous financing headaches—the same sort of trouble that plagues any town in this country.

This Funny World . . . .

Slayer of 8-Year-Old Girl To Be Executed Tonight

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Harold Alfred Beach, 23, Cleveland, is scheduled to die in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary tonight for the brutal slaying of Sheila Ann Tuley, 8, in Cleveland Jan. 1, 1948.

Beach was arrested in Baltimore, Md., 12 days after the girl was fatally stabbed as she ran an errand for her father.

Warden Ralph Alvis said Beach, who made no effort to get mercy from Gov. Frank J. Lausche, had shown no change in attitude in recent weeks.

"His behavior has been good and he does what he is told to do," he said.

A slim boy when he entered the penitentiary last March 17, Beach is now 30 pounds heavier as a result of regular living under prison discipline.

In an interview shortly after the anniversary of the slaying, Beach said:

"I hope I can make my peace for what I did. I've been trying to get right with the Lord, but you never know.

"Sure, I'm afraid to die. Who wouldn't be? I'm sorry that thing happened and I think about that girl now and then. But let's face it. I'm sorry I got myself into this jam because I have to give up my life.

"Nobody will cry over me, except maybe my mother. But I'm not mad at anyone except myself. I got myself into this. Now I have to pay off."

Beach's execution will be the first of two this week. John Thomas, 35-year-old Dayton prisoner who went berserk and killed two guards with a butcher knife, is scheduled to die in the electric chair Friday.

Traffic arrests dropped from 640 to 610 but the number of traffic tickets issued jumped by 2,124 from 10,433 to 12,557.

On a contract calling for one 5,000 kilo wat steam turbine generating unit the Worthington Pump and Mechanical corporation of Harrison, N. Y., with a total bid of $160,000 and an alternate bid of $176,000 was low. Five other bids also were submitted.

The contract calling for a surface condenser and auxiliary equipment again found the Worthington firm low with a bid of $46,000 and an alternate of $50,000.

Low bid on the contract calling for a mechanical draft cooling tower was submitted by Lillie Hoffman Codly Towers of Kansas City, for $34,500. Contract for one closed feed water heater found the Ross Heating and Manufacturing company of Buffalo submitting low bid of $1,472.

Steel and Motors Advance In Otherwise Dull Trading

NEW YORK —(AP)—Activity in Steels and Motors highlighted an otherwise dull stocks market today.

Prices among the leaders of both groups were unchanged to slightly higher. Elsewhere, plus signs held a slight edge over those on the losing side.

General Motors was in demand and fractionally higher as Wall Street discussed the meeting next Monday of the board of directors and the possibility that directors will take more favorable dividend action in line with the corporation's current high earnings.

Among better performers were Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ), Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Deere, Lockheed, Allied Chemical, Philip Morris, and International Paper.

A contract for the low-lift pumping station, to be located at the site of the dam has not been let as yet.

Council appropriated $2,272 to be paid to the Saltzgaber Drilling company for repair work on the Markley, Castor and Treisch wells of the Maxwell well fields, southwest of Mansfield.

In reply to a question from Councilman George Kyle, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn revealed that plans for the filtration plant of the Clear Fork project, the last major item yet to be contracted for, will be ready by March 15.

The filtration plant will be located at the foot of Cook road, adjacent to the high-lift pumping station now under construction.

Galion Council Gets Motions On Fire Aid, Mayor's Veto

GALION—Council last night, in a lengthy session, received two motions One was to override the mayor's veto on the legislation council passed to secure a legal counsel in power plant actions now pending and the other was for the city to contract with Polk township truseees for fire protection for the year for $400.

Both Fire Chief John Durtchi and Mayor H. H. Hartmann had recommended the contract be drawn of $1,000.

Much time was spent discussing the unhealthful condition of sewers in the north end of the city. Some spokesmen declared the elimination of a plumbing code, which did away with a plumbing inspector, caused improper installation of septic tanks on Fairview avenue. Other contended the tanks were installed while the code was in effect. It was concluded the board of health should order the septic tanks to be corrected.

It also was decided property owners on the north side should be notified of new assessments on a proposed sewer for the district.

Robert Spangler, a north end resident, complained of the taste of water and asked permission to erect a sign at the model race car track near the Amann reservoir. It was referred to the service director.

Parking problems on several streets were called to council's attention. Police Chief James L. Walker said one-way parking was impossible as the present traffic ordinance was antiquated. It is feasible only as an emergency move, he contended.

City Solicitor George H. Davies was instructed to draw up proper legislation to advertise the city's portion of lots for sale located east of East street. One part is owned by the Erie railroad company.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1949

It's right nice of those lawyers for the communists on trial in New York to try to acquaint Judge Medina with the law.

Whether or not the groundhog sees its shadow, another six weeks of the sort of winter we've been having wouldn't be so bad, after all.

An anthropologist predicts that in another 5,000 years man will have more brains—which is a cheerful thought even if it seems a long time to wait.

'Job Evaluation' Would Waste Money

CITY COUNCIL will do well to study that proposed "job evaluation survey," which was presented in the form of a resolution that was given its first reading at last night's meeting.

The idea is to bring an "expert" to Mansfield, at an estimated cost of $4,000, to "evaluate" the jobs and services of municipal employes, and such procedure will probably impress many people as absurd.

The mayor is elected and department heads appointed on the assumption that they are capable of doing the very things which such an "evaluation survey" would be designed to accomplish, and when it is taken into account that total compensation of employes must be kept within available funds, it can be seen that the problem is local rather than one to be solved by an imported "expert."

In a city this size where the mayor and service director know virtually all of the 200-odd employes by their first names and where department heads certainly should be competent to analyze their tasks and division of the work among their personnel, the spending of $4,000 for an "expert" to try to find out what is already known is foolishness.

For larger municipalities with thousands of employes, job evaluation surveys are undoubtedly worthwhile. Top officials, there, cannot be expected to have at their fingertips information about all the workers and what they are doing. The situation is different here.

Furthermore, with council forced to reduce pay increases to police and firemen because of lack of funds, after the voters had approved the raises and with virtually every department operating under a budget cut this year, it seems unwise to toss away $4,000.

The argument that the survey would result in savings is questionable, to say the least. If the present city administration cannot evaluate the capabilities of fewer than 300 employes perhaps it is the top administration who needs revaluation.

Scope of Airplane Service Broadened

PROBABLY not until spring will it be possible to determine accurately how much livestock was lost in the series of severe storms in the western ranch area, or to make a good guess as to how much was saved by the operation of dropping feed from the air to the snow-bound herds.

But the air operations pointed out in a dramatic way how machines can be used to overcome some of the unusual hazards which weather occasionally puts in the way of man, whose greatest works sometimes are weak and puny in the face of rain, snow and howling winds.

Before the days of the airplane, there would have been little to do but leave the animals caught in such storms to their own devices. Many herds have been lost in such a way, unable to obtain water and with their natural feed buried under crusted snow. Breaking overland trails through the snow, even with modern equipment, requires many days.

Whether or not the "haylift" was fully successful, it was a step toward defeating the storms. The knowledge gained in the operation can be put to better use in the next similar emergency.

Trend Toward 'Buyers' Market' Seen

EXPERTS on economics report that pressure is building up for price adjustment, and that the movement, instead of being upward, as it has been for several years, is now toward a lower general level.

Inventory stocks are large in many lines. Electrical appliances, household furniture, hardware, lumber, shoes and clothing are among the retail lines in which recent large gaps have been filled. Some tightening up of wages and a slight falling off in employment are connected with an increasingly careful attitude on the part of the public.

Economic prophets, who feared inflation for so long, now are beginning to worry about deflation. The family purchasing agent prefers the present tendency, but sensibly hopes it will not go too far.

Under the new British health program bald-headed men get their toupees free—which should surely entitle others to free haircuts.

One observer advises: "Save your money—you never can tell when prices will go down and you'll be able to buy something."

Just a line left to say—Buy it in Mansfield.

Washington Calling

When We Need 'Bigness'

By MARQUIS CHILDS

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Events have a way of outdating the bravest words of philosophers and politicians. Sometimes this happens even as the speaker is uttering his noble sentiments.

From several Republicans at the national committee meeting in Omaha came the long familiar, yet nevertheless eloquent, plea for the preservation of freedom. In this view the federal government is an all-devouring, power-seeking monster deliberately bent on destroying America's ancient liberties.

While those words were being spoken, still another blizzard was raging outside the windows. Across the plains and in the mountain states, huge herds of cattle and bands of sheep are threatened with destruction. It can be a disaster of a magnitude not yet appreciated in the East.

One remedy that instantly occurred was the airplane. In the intervals when the weather abates, food can be dropped to animals otherwise cut off. This may not mean substantial help, but it is being tried.

The federal government is the only agency that can help in this way, because only the air forces has the necessary equipment. So immediately the governors of the states, Republican and Democratic alike, appealed to Washington for help with a haylift.

Here, it seems to me, is a striking example of how technology and the ever-increasing centralization of our world are tied together. Only a strong federal government can afford an air force. No sensible person would propose that each of the 48 states maintain its own force, complete with flying boxcars.

Nor is it possible to suppress modern technology, with its ever-widening implications. Once the internal combustion engine was perfected and the Wright brothers made their first flight at Kittyhawk, everthing followed, from the B-36 to the jet fighter that goes faster than sound. The airplane is here to stay.

In my opinion, that is where the heartfelt eloquence of those who denounce big government is off the beam. If you look realistically at it, you must conclude that perhaps the chief reason for the bigness of big government is the effort to bring the fantastic new technology of the past 20 years within the framework of the kind of life we have known.

* * *

Middle Course Advised.

A SECOND reason for the bigness of big government is the bigness of big business. Corporations with several hundred thousand employes have an economic power greater than almost any state in the union.

There is a danger from big government, and a very real danger. To centralize the direction of all functions in Washington is to destroy initiative and incentive and to invite breakdown.

It is just here that the Republican party could play a vital role in pointing out a reasonable middle course. But this cannot be done as long as so many leaders in the party continue merely to denounce the New Deal and point with passionate devotion to the past.

One Republican at Omaha said more or less that in a speech which got almost no notice. That was Nebraska's Gov. Val Peterson, a veteran of World War II, re-elected last fall by a majority more than twice that of Governor Dewey.

Peterson spoke straight from the shoulder to warn that if the dead hand of the past continued to dominate, the end for the party was extinction.

When Peterson sat down, Toastmaster Wherry turned to introduce Sen. Homer Capehart of Indiana as "a real Republican who talks like a Republican."

He may not have meant this as a slur on the governor of his state, but to some in his audience it sounded that way. As the old slogan has it, you pays your money and you takes your choice.

In recent years the American people have been putting their money on those who seem to have at least some sense of the realities of the mid-thirtieth century.

Sally Seems Silly.

What fate awaits Axis Sally Gillars for having broadcast enemy propaganda during World War II, it would be senseless to predict.

But enough has been seen of her during the preliminary stages of her treason trial to raise a reasonable doubt that any punishment within the power of the court can quite fit the case.

Instead of seeming sinister, Sally looks simply silly. Even the seriousness of the charge brought against her and the possible forfeit, fail to give her any dignity.

The German witnesses make it pretty plain that Sally was little short of an infernal nuisance when she was playing on their team. That, we can well believe.—Detroit News.

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

Communism Isn't 'Changing Its Spots'

IF MARSHAL STALIN really wants peace let him come to Washington by all means and talk things over. Presidents Roosevelt and Truman both crossed the seas to meet him—and reciprocity never hurt the reciprocator.

The generalissimo will read "Welcome" on the door mat. Moreover, if he will sign a peace pact with guarantees attached, we will give him a ticker-tape parade up Broadway.

However, we get nowhere with Stalin's assertion (in answer to a question by an American newsman) that "there is no objection a meeting" with President Truman to discuss peace. Nothing could be more non-committal.

Much the same can be said of the communist chief's statement that he would be willing to discuss a joint declaration of peaceful intentions and gradual disarmament. We know already that Russia has no intention of attacking us at this time.

But that's not necessarily because of a desire for peace. It's because the Soviet Union isn't prepared militarily or economically to wage a shooting war against us.

Why then has Stalin seen fit to give a personal fillip to Moscow's latest "peace offensive?" Well, as this column previously has indicated, the cold fact seems to be that the bolsheviists are worried by the growing strength of the opposition to communism. The consensus of observers is that the peace offensive is calculated to lull the western world into a feeling of security and so soften the anti-red drive.

However, to get at the truth we must go back and look at the fundamental policy of bolshevism.

The law of communism is as immutable as is the law of gravity. There has been no change in the basic aim since it came to power in 1917. This is that the entire globe must be converted to communism and that capitalism everywhere must be destroyed.

The program calls for the violent overthrow of all non-communist governments and the establishment of soviets which would take their directions from Moscow.

And it cannot be repeated too often that this change must be accompanied by violence in order to impress the proletariat.

Stalin himself not only was one of the creators of this program, but since the death of Lenin has been the absolute dictator of communism everywhere. Not only does he rule Russia with an iron hand, but when he cracks the whip the reds in foreign countries jump.

It would be pure folly to believe that Stalin now is about to toss over his shoulder everything that bolshevism stands for. He may make gestures, but communism isn't changing its spots.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

How Small Business Gets Run-Around

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — An obscure lawsuit brought in High Point, N. C., may air some of North Carolina's dirtiest political linen. It involves a neat practice whereby North Carolina lobbyist-politicians use high-placed friends and relatives, including the secretary of the Army, to get RFC loans and army contracts.

Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall, who comes from Goldsboro, North Carolina and Gordon Gray, assistant secretary of the army, from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, appear to have been the unwitting tools of the lobbyists.

It also appears conclusive that in order to get a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, it was wise—perhaps even necessary—to apply through ex-Congressman Frank Hancock, of Oxford, N. C., whose brother-in-law, Ernest Howard, passes upon loans inside the RFC. Hancock, it can be stated, has been making a lucrative business by handling RFC loans from North Carolina.

Equally amazing is the disclosure that in order to get Army contracts, it has sometimes proved necessary to pay a percentage of the contract to political go-betweens, in this case North Carolinians.

In other words, the taxpayers' money, supposed to be used for buying army supplies and munitions, actually goes in part to political lobbyists who represent themselves as having pull with the secretary of the army and the assistant secretary.

* * *

Amazing Story.

PART of this amazing story began to see the light of day when a suit was filed by William Phillips, brother of Mayor Earl Phillips of High Point, N. C., to collect $38,880.30 from the Strickland Furniture company as a commission on a $1,500,000 Army contract by which the Strickland company made bureaus for the Army.

Strickland, who admits owing the commission, states that actually it is owned not to Bill Phillips but to his brother Earl, the mayor of High Point, and to ex-Congressman Frank Hancock who helped get the Army contract.

Congressman Hancock, when queried by telephone, admitted that he had called on Secretary of the Army Royall in Washington to discuss the furniture contract awarded the Strickland Furniture company.

It developed that he had left Strickland sitting in Royall's outer office and gone into talk to the secretary of the army alone.

Later Hancock wrote the draft of a proposed letter which was to be sent to Secretary for Air Stuart Symington in order to get other Army business. The first paragraph of the letter read:

"Agreeable with the suggestion made to me and Mr. Frank Hancock, our attorney, during our brief conference in your office as a result of appointment made by Gen. Royall, we are writing etc., etc."

Later, however, Strickland, the furniture manufacturer, broke with Hancock, the ex-congressman from North Carolina. And after that he got no more Army business. He was low bidder on an order for Army foot lockers just recently. But the Army rejected his bid and asked for new bids—after publicizing, to other bidders what Strickland's low bid was.

* * *

Laxness In Army.

THERE is no evidence that Royall or Gray profited from the transaction but it does appear that either they, or those close to them, played favorites and were much too lenient with political cronies. Also it is evident that they were lax in permitting unnecessary lobbying fees to be paid out in connection with government contracts.

For it was officially registered with the RFC, and a matter of public record, that both Hancock and William Phillips had a stand-by agreement whereby the RFC recognized these two debts.

This brings up another important and unsavory chapter in the story—the story of the run-around given small business when it seeks government help with no political friends or lobbyists at court.

Kenneth Strickland was building a streamlined new furniture plant at High Point, N. C.—one of the most modern in the state. And in 1946 he tried repeatedly to obtain an RFC loan. His loan was recommended for approval by the dirtcist RFC representative, John Campbell, at Charlotte.

Furthermore, Strickland had always repaid previous RFC loans ahead of schedule, as admitted by RFC Director Harvey Gunderson to this column.

Despite this, however, Washington turned him down.

Finally, Strickland was told that he should see ex-Congressman Frank Hancock of Oxford, N. C., a member of the subcommittee which wrote the RFC act and whose brother-in-law, Ernest Howard, also from Oxford, N. C., was the key man inside the RFC regarding the approval of loans. Strickland did so.

In a sworn affidavit, Strickland states: "On approximately Jan. 5, 1947, with check No. 3817 in the amount of $1,000, we met Mr. Hancock at his office. Upon receiving the check, Mr. Hancock informed us there was another $1,000 due immediately and we offered to send it within the next two days, which we did as evidenced by check No. 3826 for another $1,000.

"Hancock indicated he had previously checked on our case and found that his brother-in-law, Ernest Howard, was not sold on our situation, but that Mr. Howard was in town at the moment and he would try to get him over immediately for a conference. A few minutes later this was accomplished, and thirty minutes later we were on our way back to High Point."

Hancock's word was magic and, three weeks later, Strickland's loan for $325,000 came through.

Hancock collected an additional fee of $4,000 after the loan was granted, making a total of $6,000. Following this, according to Strickland, he kept demanding additional fees, until a total of $12,086.04 was paid.

It was after Strickland discontinued fees to Hancock that he failed to get his second contract from the Army—even though he was low bidder.

This is only part of the fantastic story of how a little businessman gets the royal run-around in Washington's wonderland —unless he has powerful political lobbyists behind him.

Judge's Severe Test

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK—The patience of Job is proverbial. Trial by boils and other grievous afflictions could not shake his quiet endurance.

But I wonder if Job's patience would have stood up under the dialectics and delays of defense counsel in the present trial of top U. S. communists charged with conspiracy to advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force.

I think Job had it easy with the boils compared with Federal Judge Harold R. Medina, who is hearing the communist case in United States district court.

Neither the violent verbal attacks made on him by the defense lawyers nor crank letters sent to his home and office have shaken Judge Medina's monumental calm.

For almost 30 years before he was appointed to the federal bench in June, 1947, Medina was known as a lawyer's lawyer, a man with an intellectual grasp and concept of the law that led him to be all but idolized by his confreres.

Although he was one of the most active trial lawyers in New York, Medina also was a professor in the Columbia law school. He not only loved teaching, but was a brilliant teacher.

Not only did Medina actively practice law and teach, but he found time to produce a number of books now accepted as ultimate authority in the legal field.

His appointment to the federal bench by President Truman was regarded at the time as a tremendous victory for the forces of good government over party hacks. Medina was the choice of the bar association and the Lawyers' club over the candidate sponsored by the New York state Democratic leaders.

* * *

Becomes "Judges' Judge."

MEDINA had not endeared himself to the Tammany Hall crowd in 1943 when he acted as counsel for the bar association in proceedings before the appellate court for the disbarment of a supreme court justice. The latter had received allegedly the okay for the supreme court job from ex-convict Frank Costello.

But the bar association pressed for Medina's appointment to the federal bench in 1947. When the appointment came through, the association issued a public statement which said, in part:

"Appointed on the merits at a time when he is at the peak of his professional and intellectual powers, Medina will strengthen the court and render valuable assistance to the overworked and able judges now serving there."

In less than two years on the bench, Medina has become a "judge's judge" as he was formerly a lawyers' lawyer. But as I watch him preside over the communist trial, I am more convinced that his encyclopedic knowledge of the law bothers the defense lawyers much less than his urbanity, his impartiality and his unfailing courtesy.

Incorporated into the communist credo is the old saw that "whom the gods would destroy, they first made mad." But the battery of defense attorneys has been unable to bait Medina into any show of anger that might be used to their own advantage.

It must be frustrating to attorneys to try their most provocative tactics on a judge who can't be rattled and won't be swerved from the firm and impartial administration of justice.

He sits on the bench in his handsome courtroom, rocking slowly back and forth in his tall, swivel chair, in complete control of all he surveys. His heavy dark hair, scarcely touched with gray, is brushed back from a wide, high forehead.

For the duration of the trial, Medina, who will be 61 on Feb. 16, has cancelled social engagements. At night this master of the law reads still more law to bolster him in the conduct of the trial. He goes regularly to a gymnasium to keep himself in trim for what newspaper reporters confidentially believe will be one of the longest trials in American legal history.

To date, the communist defense lawyers have accused the judge of everything from race prejudice to the heinous and communistically unforgivable crime of being listed in the "Social Register."

But Medina continues his impeccable conduct of the case with the patience of Job. As I look at him, I am convinced that justice will be done in this case. Could any American ask for more?

Farmer's Diary

An Educated Heart

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE young man was almost 18, and he had worked in a limestone quarry for $1.25 a day. Pennsylvania limestone was dug out with drills and heavy sledges. As soon as he was 18, he would be eligible to teach school. Schoolteachers got $22.50 monthly in the rural schools, but the work was not so heavy, except when discipline became difficult, and he could board and room for $10 a month.

Then there was a difference in the standing of workmen and pedagogs in the community. A teacher was expected to become a leader of younger people's life and manners—or he didn't stay.

So the boy put on his brother's stiff hat—derbies were in vogue—and endeavored mightily to look stern and circumspect.

The brother, who was older by nine years, was a minister of the Brethren church. The plan was to walk the distance from Tyrone to Sinking Valley. Call upon the members of a school board there, and get a job for the coming school team.

The road was long, and the school board members were doubting-eyed when they sized up the youthful aspirant for the educational post. "What will you do, suppose you get sick?" one wiry Dutchman asked cannily. The youth replied that he would continue to work in the lime pits, but he was tired of it.

Night came, and the two tired young men could not find a lodging place. They walked from one farmhouse to another, but nobody had a room for strangers. Finally, they knocked on the door of a small house, where a motherly woman gave them a kind smile of understanding. "Why, yes," she said, when their need was made clear. "I can keep two boys overnight. Sure I can! I've got two boys of my own, somewhere in the West. Maybe if I treat you right, God will bless my own boys, too. I'll bet you are hungry, aren't you? Come in and I'll see what I can find for you to eat."

Welcome words! The odors of food were almost too much for the still-growing youth. He feared that his older brother would be too modest to accept the grand offer. Tired and hungry, tears had come into his eyes at the good woman's words.

So they ate and slept well. And although they did not get the job at the school, the excursion was not without profit. Within a few weeks the lad was employed to teach his first school at Claysburg, Penna. The year, I believe, was 1900.

Times have changed but not human nature. Even yet real education must include the heart as well as the hands and the head! The lady who mothered two homeless boys, of whom I was the younger, still has my gratitude.

Dies Told By Roosevelt To Side-Step Communism

the WPA's Federal Writers project and Federal Theater project, both of which had the warm sympathetic support of Mrs. Roosevelt.

That did it.

CITES RED TACTICS

J. B. Matthews, a former communist fellow traveler (and, incidentally, the originator of that apt tag), told the committee on August 19, 1938, in the course of explaining communist tactics:

"The communist party relies heavily upon the carelessness or indifference of thousands of prominent citizens in lending their names for its propaganda purposes.

"For example, the French newspaper 'Le Soir,' which is owned by the communist party (denied at the time but confirmed in 1948), recently featured hearty greetings from Clark Gable, Robert Taylor, James Cagney and even Shirley Temple."

It seemed a constructive, thoughtful revelation. But it was ingeniously turned against the committee by two cabinet officers. In a speech shortly after that, Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes said:

They've (the committee) gone to Hollywood and there discovered a great Red plot. They have found dangerous radicals there, led by little Shirley Temple. Imagine the great committee raiding her nursery and seizing her dolls as evidence!"

Matthews' words were forgotten in the gales of laughter that sprang from these warped interpretations of what he actually had said. Heywood Broun's brilliant column added fresh laughter, and—on this ludicrous note—the committee actually neared collapse.

Dies stopped the laughter, if not the abuse, by gaining time on a national network to repeat exactly what Matthews said. He called more witnesses, immediately thereafter, and was soon able to identify as communist fronts the following:

American League for Peace and Democracy, Workers Alliance, International Labor Defense, Friends of the Soviet Union, International Workers Order, American Student Union, National Negro Congress, American Youth Congress.

This aroused considerable indignation at the time on the part of the organizations named. But the attorney general subsequently placed all these groups on the official list of front organizations.

The salaries of our staff of four, plus witness fees and transportation expenses, blotted up most of the $25,000 budget several weeks before the end of the committee's allotted seven month term. Dies mentioned this in two of his speeches, and the response opened our eyes.

MONEY POURS IN

Money began to pour into the office: nickels, dimes, bills, checks up to $500. A group of three businessmen called upon Dies and offered the committee $5,000 to use in any way it saw fit. On a trip to Detroit, a representative of Henry Ford called at our hotel and offered, in exchange for three $1 bills, to deliver new Lincoln cars to Dies, Rep. Mosier and myself—as gifts of Mr. Ford.

We had to reject the cars, with thanks, and the committee depleted the last of its funds by hiring two extra girls to return the money sent in.

And so it was with something of a flourish that we presented the first annual report of the committee, a 124-page statement which concluded, prophetically enough, scratched the surface of the un-American and subversive activities of those who are invading America with their alien ideologies.

"The continued success of the investigation will depend solely upon the courage, fearlessness, and the thoroughness with which it is conducted, and upon the assumption and maintenance throughout the investigation of a strictly nonpartisan attitude and policy."

(TOMORROW: Stripling describes an effort to destroy the Committee by means of forged documents.)

CASH LIFT SEE CITY LOAN & SAVINGS COMPANY

This is a diesel ... a modern locomotive that means better service to you.

Leaders of two unions think it's a feather-bed ... a "make work" grab that means less service to you.

● Leaders of unions representing railroad engineers and firemen seek to force railroads to add extra, needless men on diesel locomotives. This is sheer waste—a "make-work" program which would mean fewer improvements and higher costs—for YOU!

Railroads use modern diesel locomotives because they are one of the means of giving faster, better service to you.

Two men compose the crew of a diesel. They occupy a clean, comfortable cab at the front. The engineer handles the throttle. The fireman sits and watches the track ahead. With no coal to shovel, he has practically nothing else to do.

No Benefit To You

Now the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen want to use the diesel locomotive as a means of forcing a feather-bedding scheme on the railroads. The extra men they propose to add to the diesel crews are not needed. There is no work for them.

The union leaders are fighting among themselves about which union should furnish these extra, needless men. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have even threatened a strike. You may not be interested in this dispute of these two unions, but you would be vitally concerned if these groups succeed in putting through this feather-bedding scheme, because it would mean a slowing up of the improvement program of the railroads—of which the diesel is the outstanding symbol.

Diesel crews are among the highest paid railroad employes—real aristocrats of labor! Their pay is high by any standard. Granting of these demands, therefore, would mean that the railroads would be paying out millions in unearned wages to those in the very highest pay brackets.

We'd Like To Spend This Money On You

You know how much the diesel has meant to you in increased speed, comfort and convenience. The railroads have many more of them on order for even greater improvement in service to you. But needless drains of money, such as this present demand of the unions for needless men on diesels, reduce the ability of the railroads to spend money on better service for you.

Proud as the railroads are of the diesel, it is only a small part of their improvement program. Since the War, literally billions of dollars have been spent on improvement of tracks and stations, on new passenger and freight cars, as well as on diesel locomotives, and on the many other less conspicuous details of railroading that contribute to improved service.

Feather-Bedding Means Less Service To You

But brazen feather-bedding schemes like the one now proposed would, if successful, divert large sums of money from our present improvement programs. Even worse, they make improvements like the diesel worthless, by making the cost of their operation prohibitive.

These demands are against YOUR interests—as well as those of the railroads. They are schemes to "make work". Neither you nor the railroads should be forced to pay such a penalty for progress.

That's why the railroads are resisting these "make work" demands to the last ditch—and why they are telling you about them.

DINNER PARTY OBSERVES GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Houston Honored By Three Granddaughters at Sky Club Tuesday.

THIRTY-SEVEN friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester L. Houston, 445 Glessner avenue, were invited to the Sky Club Tuesday evening for a dinner party in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The affair was planned by the couple's three granddaughters, Mrs. Lawrence Douglass, Mrs. Charles F. Burton and Miss Jean Turner, all of Mansfield.

The guests were seated at a U-shaped table, appointed in gold and white. Large bowls of yellow roses, jonquils and snapdragons were placed in the center of the table, and were flanked by three-branch candelabra holding lighted gold tapers. The table also was decorated with miniature golden bells, fastened with gold-colored streamers.

Dr. W. M. Taylor, pastor of Park Avenue Baptist church, led the group in prayer.

A highlight of the evening was the arrival of a large basket of flowers from Mr. and Mrs. William T. Houston, Mansfield residents, who are spending the winter months in St. Petersburg, Fla. An original poem by Mrs. Houston accompanied the gift and was read during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston were married Feb. 1, 1899, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson N. Patterson of this city. They are the parents of one daughter, the late Mrs. Bertha Turner. Horoscope

For Thursday, February 3
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THE astral factors operating on this day may be characterized as complex, contradictory and dramatic, with sudden revolts and critical situations calling for quick moves, wise decisions and exceptional judgment, based on logic, reason, common sense. Rash, extravagant or irregular manipulation could cause unlooked-for complications, in which a tendency to intrigue, craft, or unfair tactics could prove ruinous, causing unhappy reactions of private affiliations. Face facts with finesse, astutely, but adhere to principle.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a strange, complicated and unusual set of circumstances, in which a productive prosperous outcome depends upon wise decisions and rare acumen, while adhering to principles and integrity in the face of curious entanglements, erratic elements or queer personal relations. This may affect the private as well as business or financial integrity. On a basis of high principle and worthy ambitions there may be exceptional cooperation in a critical state of affairs.

A child born on this day may be endowed with definite if unusual talents, skills and personal qualities, fitting it for an adventurous, perhaps sensational, career with strange vicissitudes.

There's Only One "Real" Cut-Rate Outfit . . . and We're It!

Muir's were stamped as the first honest-to-goodness cut-rate druggists back in 1922 when their first store was opened. Since that date, Muir's have held their position as the leading cut-rate stores in the entire Middle West. Muir's policy of low overhead, quality purchases from manufacturers, and fast turn-over has allowed Muir's to sell for less. Muir customers consistently save more money because every price is "cut-rate."
